MEMPHIS, September 7.—The fever continues unabated. Many active workers are among the sick, being stricken down. A J. Wheeler, secretary of the Masonic relief board, is dying; four nurses in the employ of the bard have died, and four others are sick. J. B. Cook, archiver, and Dr. D. Saunders are down with the fever. Nev. C. C. Parsons, rector of Grace Episcopal church, died last night, also Mrs Ann Phitmout and Frank Gates, son of Samuel M Gates. Miss Mollie Gates is down. Physicians and nurses from Washington reported for duty this morning.

THERE IS PRES ING NEED for experienced nurses. Ten dollars per day has been valuly offered, and many of the sick lie in rooms without proper attention owing to the inability of the relief associations to supply the many calls for nurses. Although there are calls for nurses. Although there are many negroes in the city, few can be persuaded to wait upon or even approach a sick person, while a majority of those who do hire as nurses for big pay offered are inefficient. He got along spiendid for a while, but one day shure enuf he got a bad fall and it liked to have killed him, for you see he fell in love and struck on his left side, and as the girl wouldn't have him, it seemed to affect his heart. Weil, the girl she like I him very much as a friend, you know, but she said he looked so much like a bear she was afeerd to get right up close to she said he looked so much like a bear she was afeerd to get right up close to him. But Luster railled after awhile and picked his flint and fixed away at another one and missed, and from that time on he just went about a lovin' of 'em all take Hice Howell, and ha jined a debatin' society, and one night when the school room was crowded with all the nice people of the town the question was, whether a man in a state of natur had more gumption than a woman or not. Luster was for the women of course, and he made a splendid speech, and quoted a power of beautiful poetry from General Byrun and Bill Shakspeare and Colonel Milton, and the girls throwd flowers at him, and he set down purty well satisfied with him-elf and the rest of mankind. But I've noticed that if a man haint got the honor to publish—

1. That Dr. Felton has sought to justify his candidacy in opposition to the democracy by assailing an imaginary "ring," which he alleges has possessed itself of the party machinery in this congressional district, and will not let the people be heard.

2. That he took none of the usual lights to coverest the critic of which he

2. That he took none of the usual steps to correct the evils of which he complained, such as attending the meetings and conventions of the party, and trying to purify and elevate it—nor did he, as far as is known, call public attention to these evils through the press or on the hustings, prior to his sudden and unexpected proclamation of his own candidacy.

3. That he has nevertheless announced himself an independent candidate at three successive elections, each time in advance of any nomination by the party to which he claims allegiance, and betore he could have known that an objectionable candidate would be presented.

on the republicans for his election-that he has not been heard at any tim or on any occasion, for the last fou years, to say one word for the demo democrate party in this dietric, and that his course is already creatily confusion elsewhere in the state to the injury of the democracy and the lenself of radic lism—and that in view of these facts and deductions he is logically and really the candidate, not of "independent" democrate, but of the ranninger. really the candidate, not of "indpeedent" democrats, but of the repulicans, who expect and are receiving as coperation of a few misguided independent" democrats so-called.

If further proof is required a this point, I now proceed to supplyle, and to show that Dr. Felton is to-dayxer.

io show that Dr. Felton is to-day xerring all his acmitted powers, neon-scously, I hope, to break up the emocratic party in this district and site.

As was stated in my last communication, Dr. Felton has changed his ground. The gravamen of his complaint heretofore has been iniquities of the "ring." He has taken a sup forward, however, and is now discting his battery against "the committon system" and "the organized emocracy." Now, as the la is a risay thing for a young and hopeful marchant to marry a Presbyterian gal, I tell you but if he does he's got a mighty good backer to cheer him up and comfort him in misfortune; no mistake about that, is there?

But I was just ruminatin' along. I started to say that Luster's folks was poor -very poor. They dident have any goods and chattels, lands and tenements to speak of, but they had hope, and courage, and industry, and a good name, and never told lies on anybody nor stole anything—that is, until our George got at it a few years ago akkord in' to the independent records, and I have thought that if the old lady could be made to believe it she'd wollop him now, as old as he is, and then lay down and die broken-hearted.

Well you see we boys had to go by old Ike Andeers cotton patch on the way to school, and one day we peeped through the crack of the fence and persessy and see how big they was and thump'em a little, only this and nothing more. But you see Luster he wouldent to, for he said his methods of procedure. Neither Dr. Felton nor his followers can name any party which has had an existence the world began that was not an organized party. Every living crature, whether of the earth, the air, we then with fixed principles and laws and conditions. Even the church of Gid has its organization, and could not exist here on earth without it.

Well you see we boys had to go by old Ike Andeers cotton patch on the way to school, and one day we peeped through the crack of the fence and persesses and see how big they was and thump'em a little, only this and nothing more. quent step has taken him, as it has cone in all like cases, further and further from his party.

Evil may creep into the best party organization, as the worm may est its way into the fruit of the choicest tree; but as we would not cut the tree down in order to catch the worm, so one would not break up the party for the purpose of curing the evil. Dr. Felton is, himself, a perfect organism physically, but when his organism gas out of order—in other words, when he becomes sick—it is presumed that he takes medicine and goes to work generally to remove the evil and re-es ablish his heal h. As a good physician he knows very well that it would not do to go cutside of himself, so to speak, and set up another "ind-pendent" Dr. Felton, and belabor his old self with sticks and stones, in order to effect a cure. As with individuals, so with parties. Destruction—overthrow—c ninsion—they cure nothing. There is reason in all things, as there is a time for all things.

But the doctor is also opposed to the CONYENTION SYSTEM.

And yet he cannot point to any free democratic country, or indeed to any civilized government, in which representative institutions obtain, that the convention system, or its equivalent, does not prevail. In churca and state, in matters sacred and protaine, everywhere and in all countries where there is freedom, and where the people are a lowed to select their own agents and representatives, this much-abused convention system, or something equal to it, is universally resorted to by all classes of people. In the United States the practice is universal. At all elections, national, state, county and city, in all partice and in every state, dis-his election give him claims to consideration over and above them?

Again: Did Dr. Felton not vote for Tilden and Hendricks, the candidates nominated for president and vice president by the organised democrats in convention assembled? Did he not vote for James M. Smith and Alfred H. Colquitt, the regular nominees of the democratic party for governor? And did he not support General Young, the chosen standard bearer in this district? If he did, then he is estopped by his own act from all complaint against his party and its long established method of selecting its candidates. If he did not, then of course he is not a democrat at all.

this district, would it not be equally right and proper for independent democratic candidates to run in every congressional district in the United States, and if so, might we not soon find ourselves without a single democratic representative in congress? Would not a similar course lose us the president, and the governor and legislature in every state in the union?

In conclusion, the reader is requested.

here presented, and to answer for himself, whether Dr. Felton can longer pursue his present course without being justly chargeable with a desire at oderirot the democratic party in the district. And if such is his desire, whether he can be a democratic at all, and whether he is entitled to the vote of any democratin the district, or to the sympathy of any without it?

We have heretofore been loth to believe that Dr. Felton made any such statements, but these gentlemen who are trustworthy citizens quote his very language. Major Hargrove himself, who, notwithstanding the fact that he is a republican, is very conscientious, denied most emphatically that he had ever been approached by Judge Lester. Comment would be altogether superfluous here. We merely desire. by stating fects, to show the nature of the campaign Dr. Felton is making. We are sorry to be compelled to pu such things on record.

CLEAN YOUR OWN EYES.

The Augusta Chronicle & Sentine remarks on the financial condition of the cities of Georgia.

It accuses us of making reckless sertions, and then proceeds with more vigor than fairness to prove its charge by garbling our article. We said At only cities between Memphis and Sawannah that has not had serious trouble with its creditors. We must conin this sentence was not intended for Augusta's benefit. It was our impres sion that Augusta had been in trouble less, however, that the indefiniteness with her creditors. One of our banker informed us that she staggered considerable some years ago, but had come out right side up. In every statement that we made in the article alluded to we put a qualifying clause. The Chronicle should have so quoted us. Its attack would then have carried its an-

The Chronicle is surely in error however, when it puts Augusta's credit at a higher figure than Atlanta's. Atlanta's seven per cents have sold at par and above quite steadily in this market for some time. They now rule [Republished from The Constitution, January at about that figure, and are always quoted at quite as high figures, and usually as high as the Augusta bonds. However, we lose all our sense of grief at being assaulted by the Chronicle, in our rejoicing at Augusta's solid financial condition. It gives us the greatest pleasure to put on record anything that tends to confirm Georgia's greatness, and deepen the impression of her phabili-tation. We therefore quote what the Chronicle says about her credit and her financial standing:

The solvency of a city can be the price at which the public take its obliga tions. If a person in Augusta wishes to sell a seven per cent. bond of the city of Atlanta this morning he can get for it ninety-seven cents on the dollar. If he wishes to dispose of a seven per cent, tond of the city of Augusta he can ge for it 98% cents on the dollar. Atlanta, if we ar not mis.aken, has a floating indebtedness o comething like three hundred thousand dollars Augusta has no floating debt, but has a sinking fund, which has already retired over sixty tho sand dollars of bonds, and which will ultima

NEW ORLEANS, LA. NEW ORLEANS, AUG. 8, 1878.

To the Agents of the "American Cotton Tie Supply Co." and Deslers in Cotton Ties:

We deem it proper, in order that you may answer probable enquiries, to inform you that the position of this Company in regard to the unlawful character of cealings in so called a condition of this Company in regard to the unlawful character of cealings in so called a condition of the late Circuit sudge in khode is and, and the Direct Judge of Alabama. Three different Judges of the United States Courts have repeatedly decided the use of second-hand Arrow Ties we could be used the second-hand Arrow Ties whout the license and cons in of the owner of the Patent to be unlawful. In view of this condition of opinion, the reasoning of the Judges deciding adversely to the Company has been summitted to the most experienced counsel, and was a vised that the judgments are manif sty croneous. Both cares have been appealed to the Supreme Court, where, we are acvised, the judgments will be reversed.

It is the intention of this Company to hold all persons engaged in dea inc in Arrow Ties without its authority, strictly accountable for all proving his so well under the Arrow Tie Patent, as all other patents owned or centrolled by this Company

For thor oughness in every department of female education, at it de Chantal ranks pre-minently high Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of promunetation acquired in this institution have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spra da as to have made that have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spra da as to have made the Academy asmost a national one. One feature, it particus at this school recommend Mt. de Chants to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of comony, and to render them really practical and us-fri women of acciety in after years. Simplicity in these is a miscond by rule.

Those fact, united ty the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($200 per anuum, will we trust, secure to this school as large and deef able a pairsonage in the forture as it has enjoyed the pastr.
